General description

The 250 HJ trailer-mounted field bakery makes it possible to bake bread in field conditions. It is ideally suited for all the necessary production processes - kneading, weighing, proving (with a raising agent), baking and cooling - and was specially developed to cater for the bread requirements of soldiers in the field. Thus it can supply up to 600 persons with a bread ration of 600 grams per head within 16 hours. An integrated, diesel-fueled power generator makes the system fully independent from an external power source, thereby enabling it to operate as a stand-alone unit without recourse to fixed infrastructures. The field bakery is mounted on a single-axle trailer and is equipped with an inertia brake and a semi-automatic, weatherproof tarpaulin. Its compact construction enables speedy commissioning, in addition to which the unit can be transported to the deployment location by helicopter in the event of difficult road conditions or adverse weather.
